

GROUP ADVENTURES

Pacaya Volcano Trek

Hiking & Trekking

1 Day / 1 Country

Guatemala

Departure city: Antigua, Guatemala

End city: Antigua, Guatemala

WHAT YOU GET

- *Transportation
- *Local Guatemalan guide (Spanish only)
- *Entrance fee to Pacaya Volcano

WHAT IS NOT INCLUDED

- *English-speaking guide
- *Snacks & bottled water
- *Optional hiking equipment rental
- *Optional horseback ride
- *Tips

Brag to your friends about trekking an active volcano after hiking up the steep slopes of the Pacaya Volcano to reach a moon-like landscape of dried lava with panoramic views of nearby volcanoes above the clouds.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Get up close and personal with an active volcano
- Trek across dry lava that resembles a moon-like landscape
- Take memorable photos in this surreal place

Trip Description

Get up close and personal with an active volcano and brag to your friends about it. Hike up the Pacaya Volcano slope for two hours and then trek onto dry lava that resembles a moon-like landscape. Look up to catch an eruption from the active volcano if you're lucky (depending on the activity of the volcano you may or may not see eruptions or lava). Take unforgettable photos in a landscape so surreal that you feel like you are walking on the moon. Admire the breathtaking landscape and views of neighbouring volcanoes peeking through the clouds around you. Take your time returning to the base of the mountain as you make your way down the slippery, muddy slopes. (Note: Horses can be rented for the trip up and back.)

We recommend wearing comfortable trekking shoes and bringing a flash light and a walking stick (or rent one for a few dollars from local kids before you start your hike). It gets dark and steep on the mountain if you are going up in the afternoon. If you are travelling during rainy season bring a raincoat or poncho... you will definitely need it! Bring bottled water for the trek and some extra cash to buy snacks afterwards or pack a few power bars in your day pack to take with you.

